
Amy Talbott

UX professional with web development experience and a background in communications

(502) 507-3022

atalbott28@gmail.com

SKILLS

Project management; user research, testing, and UX prototyping; front end web development; copywriting and editing; working in a fast-paced, collaborative environment

EXPERIENCE

CBS Interactive/TechRepublic - Associate Editor

November 2015 - June 2018

- Managed monthly research projects, including creating and administering surveys, assigning and editing in-depth research reports
- Edited daily article submissions from a team of seven freelance writers, working with writers to improve content and clarity
- Managed a calendar of daily video interviews with tech industry experts
- Recruited and maintained relationships with freelance graphic designers and data analysts

Louisville Magazine - Special Publications Editor

December 2014 - December 2015

- Managed six annual projects, including the health and fitness guide, bridal issues, and restaurant guide
- Made assignments to staff and freelance writers, and edited all content
- Coordinated with photographers and illustrators to produce artwork
- Ensured accuracy of all information in business listings for each publications

Louisville Magazine - Freelance Writer

June 2013-July 2016

- Researched and wrote monthly short and long-form articles
- Won a Society of Professional Journalists award for a feature about working as a standardized patient at the University of Louisville medical school

EDUCATION

Code Louisville - Certificates in front end web development and JavaScript React

May 2018 - November 2018

Learned how to create responsive, interactive websites using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript; gained experience using frameworks like Bootstrap, jQuery, and React

General Assembly - Certificate in UX design

July 2018-September 2018

Learned the process of UX design, from user research to interactive prototype; gained experience using tools like Sketch and InVision

University of Louisville - Bachelor's degree in Communication

January 2006 - December 2010